In Memoriam

November 22, 1963, was a day none of us will ever forget.

When John Fitzgerald Kennedy was shot and killed in Dallas, more than a man's life came to an end. President Kennedy was an inspiration to young Americans. He was young, he was full of youthful enthusiasm. It was a new era in American thinking, an era in which we thought we had a place. This era came to an end.

When those long days following the tradgedy were over, the editors and staff tried to think in what way we could do honor to this man who had meant so much to so many. After much deliberation, we decided to use famous quotes from the late President's many lectures and speeches. We have taken the liberty of using the quotes, out of context, on our division pages, in the hope that they will re-emphasize President Kennedy's many hopes and ambitions.

"Ask not what your country can do for you-- ask what you can do for your country."

Office Task Force Stands Ready

DR. STREET

This is the third year that Dr. Scott Street has headed Roosevelt. Many changes have come about during his administration. He has been placing added responsibility on the students by making study halls optional. He has been encouraging independent study. He has invested the Student Council with more power. Currently, he is speeding up a research program.

MRS. CROUCH

Mrs. Florence Crouch assists students in finding jobs or in selecting a college. She administers tests and compiles records. She is always ready and willing to listen to parents, students, and faculty.

MRS. KRESS

The lady with the warm smile is Mrs. Geraldine Kress, the nurse. She handles the "medical department" and checks up on those who have been absent for health reasons.

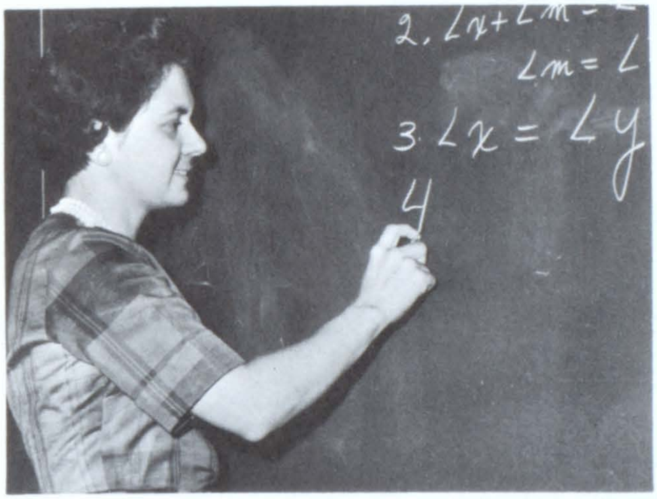
MRS. BIRCH

Answering the phone, repairing the mimeograph, parrying innumerable questions of students and faculty, taking in money and doling it out—all such small and big tasks keep Mrs. Janet Birch, school secretary, busy from 8:00 to 5:00.

Math Staff Adds Two New Faces

MR. WELPER

The math department this year has only one veteran faculty member, Mr. Francis Welper. Through his teaching, students acquire an excellent foundation in math. He is in charge of Roosevelt's visual aid program and is always around to manipulate the knobs, or repair the plugs, or bring out the sound effects.



MISS RANKIN

Another new member in the math department is Miss Joanne Rankin. She is taking the place of Miss Margaret Gotts who transferred to the University's math department. Before coming to RHS, she taught at Airport Community High School for seven years.

MR. SAUNDERS

Mr. Ronald Saunders, the assistant football coach, is a 1963 addition to the Roosevelt faculty. He helps with physical education classes and teaches math.

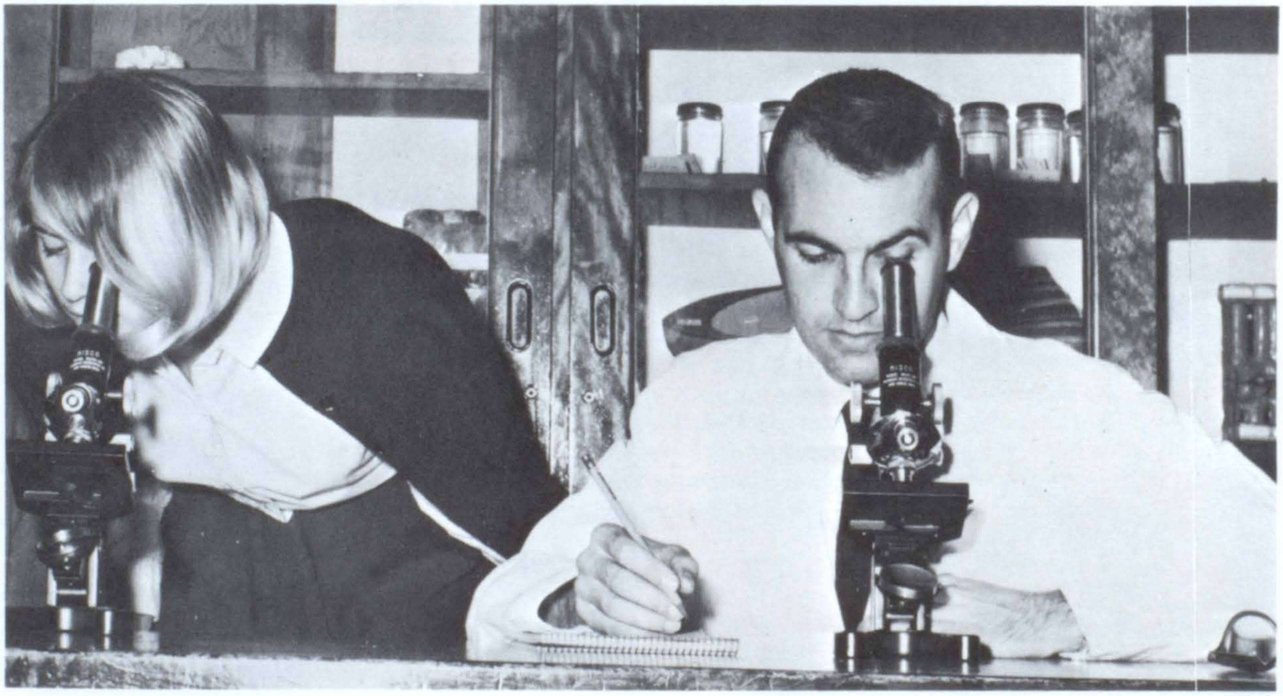
MR. GOSSEAUX

Mr. Emile Gosseaux is the physics, chemistry, and physical science teacher. He is a sponsor of the senior class. He also sponsors the cheerleaders. Among his hobbies is a bit of good beat music. His battle cry is "LEARN THOSE VALENCES!"

Top Men Make Science Live

MR. WALL

Biology teacher, Robert Wall, brought applied biology into the curriculum this year. He sponsors the biology club and co-sponsors the senior class. He promotes an interest in wild life and growing things by overnight and weekend camping jaunts.



Mr. Mac. Heads Social Sciences

MR. MacDONALD

One of the best liked teachers in the senior high is Mr. Alister MacDonald. He instructs American Government and History, and coaches the senior high tennis team. He is known as a woodsman of the Paul Bunyan variety, and while he does not match Paul in size, his stories do.

MR. TOMCZAK

Mr. Benedict Tomczak is one of the junior high core teachers. He coaches the junior high tennis team. He has a flair for the guitar and the bowling ball. Some say he is an expert fisherman.

MR. WAARA

A new junior high core teacher is Mr. William Waara. He came to RHS from Wayne, Michigan. During the summer Mr. Waara takes to the air as the pilot of a crop dusting plane.

MISS McANDLESS

The head of the English department is Miss Thelma McAndless. Her schedule includes the eleventh and twelfth grade classes. She also spends numerous hours as sponsor of the Rough Rider and Echo. In addition Miss McAndless directs speech activities and junior-senior plays. On the state, regional, and national levels Miss McAndless is busy as a speaker and resource person for various organizations. Roosevelt is proud to have Miss McAndless, professor of English and biographee Who's Who in American Women, as a member of its faculty.

MISS LANGWORTHY

Roosevelt's French teacher is Miss Lucille Langworthy. Her classes include junior and senior high French. This year she is also teaching English IX. In her spare time Miss Langworthy enjoys gardening and listening to fine music.

MISS COOPER

Roosevelt Latin teacher--Miss Virginia Cooper. This year she teaches world history as well as social studies. In addition she is in charge of the National Honor Society at Roosevelt. Her devotion to teaching is well known to those who attend her Saturday morning sessions.

Music Studies Horizons

MISS FRASER

Miss Jean Fraser, ninth and tenth grade English teacher, has now completed her second year at Roosevelt. She is mad about Shakespeare and will talk up the bard whenever the opportunity presents itself. She knows the value of good plays and encourages her students to attend.

MRS. SUNDQUIST

Mrs. Jean Sundquist is Roosevelt's prize winning music teacher. She has elementary and seventh and eighth grade music and directs the high school chorus. Mrs. Sundquist works with many adult groups including the EMU faculty council, the State Music Supervisors' Organization, and a local string trio. She is a real contributor to the life of the school, filling it with the strains of young voices.

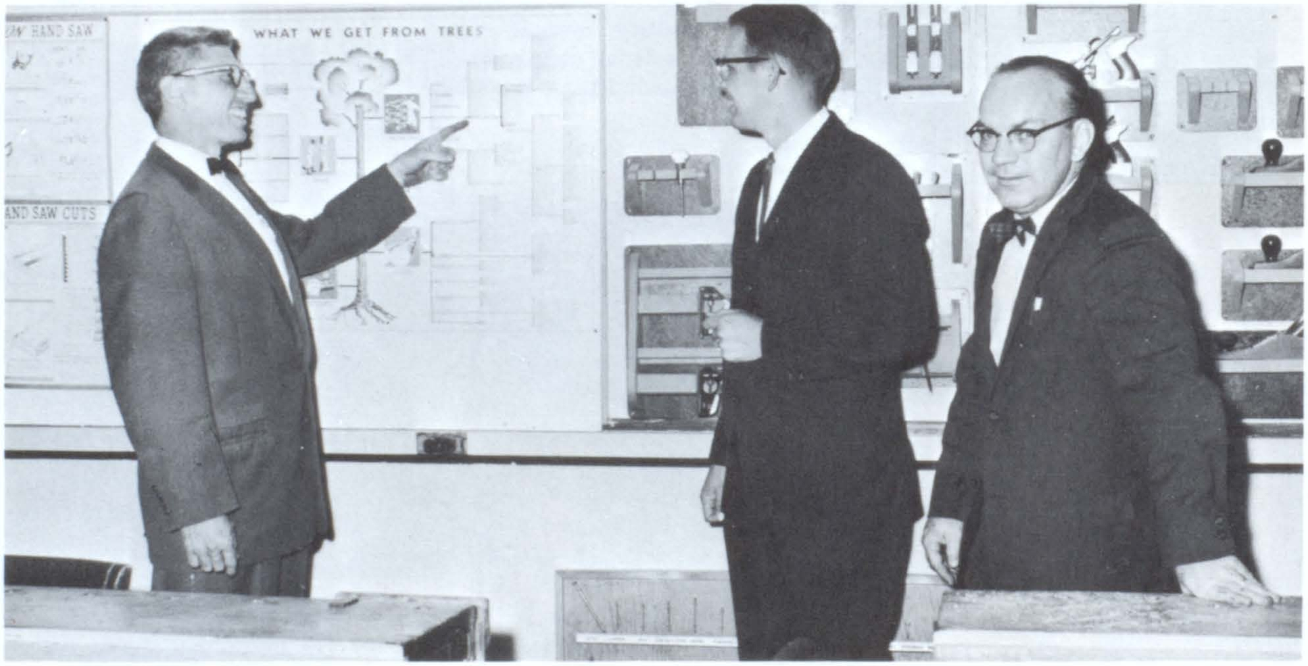
DR. RILEY

Dr. Maurice Riley directs the orchestra and junior and senior high band. He supplements group activities with individual and ensemble coaching. Dr. Riley's organizations have brought much good publicity to Roosevelt and to Ypsilanti.

Faculty Survey Reveals

MR. ARMSTRONG

Roosevelt's high school art program is in the charge of Mr. Roger Armstrong. In addition to teaching junior and senior high art, Mr. Armstrong, whose real love is jewelry making, also finds time to engage in a smashing battle with the chessmen.



MR. DOANE, MR. JENNINGS MR. BENDEN,

In the Industrial Arts Department there are Mr. Robert Benden, Mr. Ray Doane and Mr. David Jennings. Mr. Benden is always willing to help Roosevelt with any printing difficulties. Mr. Doane, who left RHS in December, is now director of practical arts at Macomb County Community College. Mr. Jennings, new in 1963, teaches shop and is responsible for several Roosevelt groups.

Multiple Interests

MISS DRAKE

Miss Mary Drake is the girls' physical education teacher and elementary gym teacher. Her major project is the Sinkopators' annual show or stunt competition.

MISS McKINLEY

The home economics department has a new teacher this year—Miss Linda McKinley. She came to RHS from East Junior High School, where she taught for four years. Miss McKinley sponsors the FHA.

MR. DORNBOS

Dr. Sanford "Bud" Dornbos is Roosevelt's new Athletic Director. In addition to coaching he teaches physical education classes. Many of Roosevelt's student's knew "Bud" prior to his appointment to Roosevelt, from having seen him as manager of a local swimming club.

Working togetherness

For the past several years, Mr. Russell Brumbaugh, a member of the university faculty, has allocated part of his time to teaching driving at our high school. Although he is truly an unsung hero, the many students whom he has instructed are appreciative of his work.

Training in the commercial studies is given, at Roosevelt, by Miss Vera North. In addition to Typing I and II, she teaches bookkeeping and shorthand. This past year, she added notehand to the curriculum. Notehand is a modified shorthand designed for the college-bound student.

Students Practice Democracy

The Roosevelt Student Council, which meets once a week to carry on school business, has had a profitable year. Headed by Joe McCulloch as president, Jim Sukach, vice president, Mary Street, secretary, and Sue Ulrich, treasurer, the Council has helped to build school morale and spirit.

Among the many activities which the Council carries out every year is the annual magazine sale. Using the profits from this sale the Student Council provides funds for school projects. Too, the Council has sponsored buses to away football, basketball, and swimming meets, so that our athletes will carry with them the enthusiasm of their fans.

The Council has received special recognition this year for Joe McCulloch who was elected to the presidency of the Washtenaw Conference Student Council. The W.C.S.C. strives to better inter-school relations, and inter-school sportsmanship. It also attempts to solve problems of the individual school in our conference

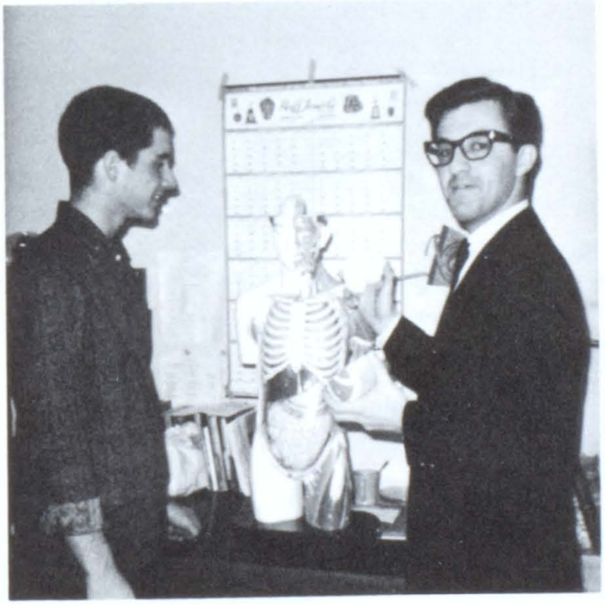
Biological Interests Stem to Many Fields



Mr. Ron Stienberg, student teacher, and Steve Post examine the new torso purchased by the biology department.

The Roosevelt Biology Club is sponsored by Mr. Robert Wall. Although they have no officers as such, they do have a Planning Committee with a representative from each grade, ninth through twelfth.

This organization was founded during the fall semester of 1961. A number of students from the class of 1964 had requested the club be founded.

During the monthly meetings the 45 members engage in activities related to biology. Among these are lab nights, films, speakers, nature trips, field trips.

Citizenship, scholarship, leadership, and service — a high rating on these qualities won membership in the National Honor Society for six seniors last spring. Under the direction of Miss Virginia Cooper, the society this year operated according to the provisions of the revised National Constitution which permits the faculty to initiate a larger number of qualified juniors and seniors.

Outstanding Students Receive Recognition

Joe McCulloch and Jim Herndon were chosen as our representatives to Boys' State, held on the MSU campus in June 1963. (Alex Dukay and Jeff Richards were selected as alternates.)

Personality, honesty, leadership, sportsmanship, and ability to get along with others were the basis on which the four boys were chosen.

While attending the five-day session the boys participated in setting up a mythical state government, complete with elections, campaigns and office holding.

The faculty and 58 seniors selected the recipient of the 1964 D.A.R. award by evaluating the qualifications of each senior girl according to her record of service, patriotism, dependability, and leadership. Katherine Foreman was chosen as the final contestant (by the faculty) and proceeded to participate in region wide competition.

Exchange students have been selected according to how well they can represent the American teenager abroad. Kathy Foreman was among the few to be chosen for personality and musical ability to be a part of the Michigan Choral going to South America. The other exchange students will live in European countries for the summer.

June Cook has received recognition not for one honor this year but for two. The first came early this year when she received word that she was a semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Test. She received her second honor when she placed first in the competition for the Betty Crocker Search for the Homemaker of Tomorrow.

Battle-scarred Veterans Have Toiled Diligently

The Echo staff has spent a chaotic year in a never ending attempt to synthesize an idea which is truly representative of the senior class of 1964. Under the steady direction of editor Barb Barich, the staff has been able to approach its objectives, in spite of the ever-present, ever-changing, wild, unpredictable turn of events. The meeting of deadlines and the perennial debates with the Rough Rider staff has produced many dedicated, sincere, battle-scarred yearbook veterans.

Quest, the Roosevelt literary magazine, under the skilled direction of Betsi Foster and Daren Otis, has presented to the student body the best of the year's creative writing. Poetry, art, short stories, and essays written by the Roosevelt students are featured in Quest of 1964.

The Rough Rider staff, laboring under the burden of being one of the finest Class "C" papers in the country, has tried hard to live up to its reputation. Under the leadership of editors Jeff Richards and Mary Street, the paper has produced some good copy. One of the finest pieces of work was done the weekend following President Kennedy's assassination. An in memoriam was prepared in his honor, and was distributed as part of the regular issue.

Absent: Kathy Schultz, Evelyn Norton, and Larry Addison.

Honor to R.H.S.

The Roosevelt High School Orchestra under the direction of Dr. Maurice Riley, is a grand ensemble of string and wind musicians. It diligently rehearses three times a week under the assistance of student directors and then performs many concerts throughout the school year for the public and school assemblies. Their time and effort is justly rewarded through well-attended performances.

Under the direction of Mrs. Jean Sundquist, the Roosevelt Mixed Chorus has added much to the musical life of the school. They presented the annual Thanksgiving concert with a special tribute to the late President Kennedy. With the aid of the junior English class, the Chorus presented Dicken's "A Christmas Carol" for the D.A.R., the P.T.A., the Rotary Club, and for two school assemblies. They also participated in the Easter assembly and graduation exercises.

New Skills for the Future

The Future Homemakers of America is one of the largest organizations in school. Since FHA is Roosevelt's only service organization, the Future Homemakers are kept busy doing good deeds for the community as well as for the school. They adopted a ward at the Ypsilanti State Hospital in 1959, and each year they support a number of activities for the patients. Once a month the members go out to the hospital and entertain their ward with games and refreshments. The FHA'ers have received national as well as local recognition for this service.

The F.H.A., sponsored by Miss Linda McKinley, has among its members two who are serving in state or regional offices. Judi Bair is region III pianist, and Barbara Barich is State President. With these girls to keep the group informed, everyone keeps busy with state and regional activities.

This year the Varsity Club has been revitalized under the sponsorship of a new athletic director and coach, Dr. Bud Dornbos. The club formulated new rules for membership and modified regulations pertaining to the awarding of varsity letters.

The Varsity Club conducted an initiation for the new letter winners and sponsored Alumnus vs. Varsity and Faculty vs. Jr. Varsity basketball games.

Students Active In Scouting

The Girl Scout troops of Roosevelt High School have been active this year in outdoor activities and community projects. During Christmas, they visited the patients at the Washtenaw County Hospital and provided a festive atmosphere by singing carols and enacting a Santa Claus role.

The Boy Scouts of troop 31 were the first organized troop in the Ypsilanti area. They have remained one of the most active troops and have worked toward the goals of Scouts of America. Under the skillful direction of Mr. Arthur Sprague the scouts have participated in many varied activities.

The Library Assistants Club, although relatively new, is active. A member of the Student Librarian Assistants Association of Michigan (SLAAM), they have become active on the state level. They have supplied a State vice-president, Jon Obermeyer. Jon Obermeyer and Mary Zickgraf are co-editors of the SLAAM Newsletter. Sue Hart is art editor, and Miss Alice Beal is the adviser.

The purpose of this organization is to bring Roosevelt students closer to the library. The club would like the faculty and students to use the library's many facilities more.

Teachers Get Students' Help

"Learn by doing" is the credo of the Roosevelt F.T.A. Club. Each member of F.T.A. must obtain actual classroom experience every semester by "cadet teaching" which is helping the supervising teachers in various classroom situations.

Under the skilful guidance of Mr. Melvin Suhd the new sponsor, the Future Teachers of America learn about varying teaching methods.

And Rewarding Year

The Roosevelt Sinkopators had a busy and rewarding year. They started the year out with competition with Plymouth. Then began the grueling practice for the spring show "Poetry in Motion".

President Janie Davis and Vice-president Sue Ulrich worked with their sponsor Miss Mary Drake to provide many interesting trips to other swim shows.

The busy year ended with the annual banquet given for the boy's Swim Team.

Girls Keep Up Pace

This year the Girls' Athletic Association branched into two groups. The seventh and eighth grades had expressed a desire to form a junior club. They succeeded in getting Miss Anne Goldsmith and the hard-working senior high G.A.A. president, Kathy Shultz, interested in organizing the Girls' Athletic Club.

The junior high group, headed by Janis Hartmen, president, Wendy Skinner, vice-president, and Kathy Gilden, secretary-treasurer, has met Tuesdays and participated in many strenuous activities.

The senior high group sponsored an inter-league conference day to promote good relationships among the schools and to further an interest in intramural sports. This group is headed by Kathy with Bev Peller, as vice-president, and Carol Gauntlett as secretary-treasurer.

New Coaches Take Over

THE RHS ROUGHRIDERS WERE FULL OF SPIRIT and enthusiasm during the entire 1963 season. The fact that a win-loss record of 0-8 appeared at the end of the season was disappointing. There was a general feeling that it "left room for improvement."

The Riders had two new coaches this year. Dr. Sanford J. Dornbos, popularly known as "Bud," head coach, and Ronald Saunders, assistant coach. Dr. Dornbos is from the town of Grand Rapids, Michigan, and was intramural coach at the University of Michigan before coming to Roosevelt. Mr. Saunders' home town is Windsor, Ontario. He is a graduate of Eastern Michigan University, and student taught at Roosevelt in the 1962-63 year.

Throughout the long campaign, the Roosevelt student body wholeheartedly supported the football team which was captained by Bill Sinkule.

Hoopsters Work Toward New Goals

The basketball team under the leadership of Captain Jim Herndon and Coach Ron Saunders showed new pep and enthusiam as they started the season.

With a goal of beating the 1963 record of wins, the boys put everything they had into the game.

Jim Herndon's high scoring ability attracted the attention of all area teams and put him in the running for high scorer in the league.

As the season progressed success seemed to be constantly at hand.

Brings Hope For The Future

J. V. Coach Pat Dignan.

The Junior Varsity which has been quoted as saying that they can beat the varsity team, had a fairly successful season this year. With the high scoring ability of the J.V. team they posted a tougher threat than expected.

Pat Dignan, coach of the J.V. team, gave the boys all he had, and kept their spirits high.

With the unusual run of warm weather through-out the fall football season, cheerleaders showed more enthusiasm than ever. Even though the season was not as successful as we had hoped it to be, the girls never lost their spunk. The cheerleaders' enthusiasm continued on into the basketball season. With the help of Coach Bud Dornbos' plea to "get out there and cheer," they were backed by a tremendous student cheering section.

Under the leadership of senior captain Tam Eberle, the cheerleaders sponsored dime dances, sold pennants, and all in all had a very rewarding year.

Swimmers Splash To Success

The RHS tankers, led by Captain Ron Schieve, overcame the loss of more than half of last year's team and showed their ability to "stay in there and fight," by winning 7 out of 10 meets.

In the home meet against U. High, Captain Ron Schieve broke the 40-yard freestyle record with a winning time of 18.4. He also broke the 50-yard freestyle in the away meet against U. High with a winning time of 24.5, 2 seconds faster than the previous record.

The great spirit of the tankers will be carried to Lansing with the finalists. The effort shown through the season has lifted our hopes for a third place in the State Contests.

State Meet Brings Third Place.

Roosevelt's swim team was a happy group after placing third in the Class B state meet. Swimming for the Rough Riders — only a Class C team — were, left, in water, Ron Schieve, Ron Karoub (in front), Dennis Betts, Brewster Brown, and Don Porter; on pool edge, Bill Burke, Mike Kennedy, Rich Sprague, and Hal Caswell.

Congratulations !

Spirit !
Spirit !
Spirit !

Cheerleaders pause during a tense moment.

Cheering crowds encourage the RHS basketball team.

Spirit is easy to come by when a school has a winning team, but the real test comes when a team is losing. We have been in this position several times this year, and the student body has really come through in fine shape. With encouragement from the faculty, and the hard work of the cheerleaders, large crowds of spectators have turned out to cheer our teams, and to give them the encouragement that they so justly deserve.

Spectators look on attentively during a swim meet.

Baseball Team Swings With Action

Alert outfielders try for a fly ball.

Outfielders play a tough game.

The 1964 Baseball Team, led by Co-captains Gene Hall and Ken Cleeton, posed a hard looking picture as practice began the end of April. With the help of the many returning lettermen, the team had hopes of a good season.

Netters With Returning

The 1964 tennis team, led by Captain Joe McCulloch and Coach Mr. Alister MacDonald, had one of its best seasons on record. The netmen were fired by the return of five seniors, which, added to the onslaught of the exceptionally able freshmen, constituted one of our finest teams .

With their good luck behind them, the state championship seemed almost within grasp as they left for the state tournaments on June 5.

Coach Alister MacDonald

Score Big Many Lettermen

Captain Joe McCulloch reaches high in maximum effort.

Ron Norris takes a mighty swing.

The editors and staff regret that more complete coverage could not be given to the spring sports. However, due to an early deadline, the yearbook went to print before these sports had gone into practice.

The eighth graders were proud and happy to be at last "upperclassmen". In addition to scholastic accomplishments, they were kept busy sponsoring fun nights, joining clubs, and supporting the R.H.S. teams. Miss McKinley and Mr. Tomczak were kept busy holding the reins of this energetic class.

The ninth graders entered the world of high school activities in September 1963. They quickly joined organizations and became active in sports. Eagerly they attended senior high dime dances and fun nights. After the long dreaded initiation, the freshmen were branded as spirited, and with this spirit they have successfully infected the entire school. Miss Fraser and Mr. Mac brilliantly sponsored the class.

Rings highlight Sophomore year

The year began for the sophomore class with the flurry of excitement generated by the ordering of their class rings. They officiated at the Freshman Initation and sponsored their dance for the year. The class of '66 proved itself extremely able in the academic department.

Juniors excel

The Class of 1965 is headed this year by President Al Burrell, Vice-President Don Porter, Secretary Maureen Trosko, and Treasurer Mary Zickgraf.

As Juniors they have enthusiastically supported the athletic teams as players or spectators. In speech and dramatics they found new outlets for their vitality, taking part in forensic contests and the Junior Play Festival. Giving the Junior-Senior Prom was the height of their exciting year.

Under the leadership of Miss Thelma McAndless and Mr. Roger Armstrong the class progressed quickly through the year, and arrived one year closer to the glorious status of seniors.

Our class of '64, upon induction to dear old RHS, immediately demonstrated those characteristics which were to set our class apart from all previous and future classes. During the annual magazine sale and at all athletic endeavors, the mighty class of '64 was out in full force. Sixty-two optimistic seventh graders were all too soon proving them-selves true 'gifts from Heaven' for fellow students and faculty alike.

The biggest thrill of the eighth grade year was the Junior League Basketball Championship, gained by the class of '64's future hoopsters. In A Case For Two Detectives, several members of the class demonstrated their dramatic talents. Fun nights, parties, and cheerleader try-outs brought the year to an exciting close.

Bursting with enthusiasm, the class of '64 entered upon the high school program in September '60. We attended clubs and sports events, and campaigned for our nominees for Student Council officers. At our first big party, "Emerald Isle," we were honored by the out-going seniors.

The sophomore year found our group taking an active part in all phases of school life. We were initiated by the juniors, and that spring, changed tradition by initiating the freshmen. We also sponsored the Christmas dance, "Candy Cane Heaven", and set a precedent for all our future dances. Of course they would be among the best in the school's history.

As juniors, we, the class of. '64, took our places on the teams, as cheerleaders, Student Council representatives, and as members of clubs. But these constituted only a small segment of accomplishments. The class showed true showmanship in their presentation of the class plays. The highlight of the year was the Junior-Senior Prom, 'Carousel'. The decorations won acclaim, by many, as the best in the history of McKenny Hall.

With sponsors Emile Gosseux and Robert Wall, and officers Jeff Richards, president, Pat Powers, vice-president Kathy Foreman, secretary, and Daren Otis, treasurer, the class of '64 accepted the role of seniors. The year brought with it much business and responsibility. Planning the senior trip and graduation exercises required time and energy. We sponsored the Christmas dance, "The Back Door" in the usual '64 tradition. With high school memories behind, we, the class of '64, received our diplomas on June 6, 1964, and became alumni of this truly great school.

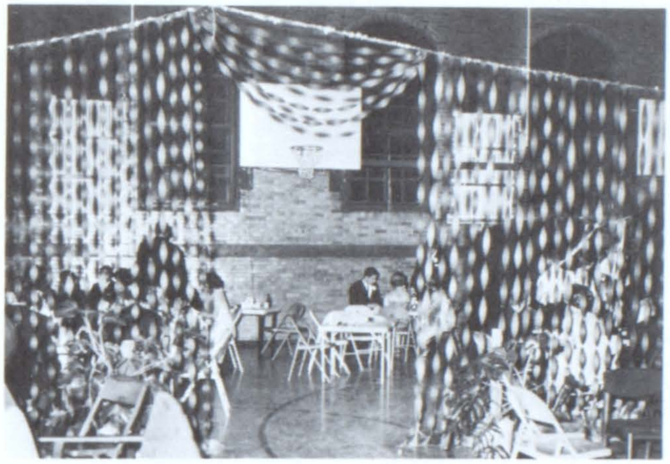
It all ended

The '64 tower stands as a reminder of the seniors' presence.

Pat Powers, Diane Durfee and Joe McCulloch symbolize seniors' authority over senior stairs.



Unusual decorations catch the eye of guests at the Christmas Dance "The Back Door".

The class of '64 has been going strong since school began in September. Operating the concession stand at the football games marked the start of a hectic year of activities. In December, we sponsored our last dance, "The Back Door," whose unusual theme proved to be an enjoyable change. Supporting our teams, punishing senior stairs violators, and painting the towers coalesce to form only a small part of the active lives of the seniors.
